

This week Mark Mitton my magician buddy visited and left me with this quote from W. H. Auden -

"How can I know what I think until I see what I say?"

That's Angie and the rest of us. That's what we do at our school.

Next week I'll be in Syracuse visiting our schools, Washington, DC following up on our event, PVD meeting with Dennis and Stan and stopping in on my advisory and visiting our school in Lisbon, CT. Finally I'll be in NYC and Newark for school start-up and foundation meetings.

Enjoy the weekend

Do, talk and eat in the Big Picture Cooking Club for principals in the Netherlands

September 09 the Big Picture Association Netherlands (BPANL) started a principal network for members. A group of 14 principals from 8 different schools made the pasta, mixed the salad dressing, baked the cheese baskets and talked and talked about the changes their schools have made and still want to make. They exchanged good practices and at the same time they enjoyed a good meal together as well. Definitely something to do again.
